

MAY 10TH 9016 – ENGLISH SYNTHESIS

TABLE 9

- 1.Create more awareness on human trafficking in our different situations for effective actions.
- 2.Find more ways of forming partnership with one another in our different Congregations.

TABLE 10

- 1.Create environment and freedom for any Sister to move to the peripheries;
- 2.Towards preferential option for the poor, vulnerable
- 3.A deeper call for the sacrament of God's presence;
- 4.being the voice of those at the margins while reading the signs of the time in our contexts

TABLE 13

Authentic in our manners to form partnerships of collaboration and dialogue

TABLE 14

Called to be ONE to support physically (personnel and finance) and spiritually 'solidarity' projects and to take risks within our Congregations to keep focus and action on ministry at the peripheries.

TABLE 17

We are called to fan into flame our relationships with all persons especially those living on the margins.

TABLE 18

Every effort counts no matter how small, therefore we ask

- 1.How can we collaborate together to promote peace; or
- 2.Disarmament: make a statement from UISG to the UN (EU and AU) about fighting the source of all conflicts

TABLE 21

We are called to be: Other oriented; attentive; more aware; resistant to numbing and paralysis; women with compassion of Christ who listen to others' pain.

'The more' – Leave our comfort zone; find a way to the periphery, hand in hand with others in partnership

TABLE 25

We religious are part of the problem globally and we contribute to it. So we are called to be conscious about it and network with organizations who are already engaged.

TABLE 26

We believe strongly that collaboration and interculturality are the only ways forward for mission.

TABLE 28

We are called to be bearers and nurturers of hope, faithfully living and deepening our call rooted in the Gospel, noticing if we are cultivating that divine recklessness we heard of this morning.

We are called to strengthen our communications and continue to explore new and creative ways to collaborate and partner with others, as our 4 panelists love and are giving response to the cried of humanity.

TABLE 33

Continue to support and where possible strengthen the ministry of our sisters working at the peripheries.

TABLE 36

Table 3b pondered on the question – who is benefitting from vows?

The reflection lead to:

- each congregation recognizes the need to animate their own congregation to partner with others to respond to the need
- we encourage the UISG body assembled here to be the voice of the voiceless now in collaboration, partnering, being filled with divine recklessness.

TABLE

- It is important to be and create an awareness to the issues to sensitize people and sisters
- Recommit to the good works already being done, mindful at always being rooted in Jesus.
- Do this by creating partnerships and working collaboratively.

TABLE

Discuss within the Constellations how we can weave solidarity in response to the needs of the people in our area. Decide to act together.

TABLE

Build a circle of relationships which would include all persons.

TABLE

We are called to be missionaries rooted in the mission of Jesus by collaboratively being a strong voice for the voiceless in our changing contexts.

TABLE

To weave deep contemplation into our communities, desiring a conversion of heart in order to move us to be sources of hope on the peripheries in our own context and the moving out...

TABLE

Think globally and act locally and network.
